Mum scours pharmacies in search of swine flu drug

THE mother of a 12-year-old girl suffering from swine flu said she was shocked that only one chemist in Harlow has stocks of the antiviral drug Tamiflu.

It is understood at least three children in the town have been taken ill after showing symptoms. All three have been prescribed Tamiflu and are recovering at home.

The mother, who lives at Church Langley, said it had been an "absolute nightmare" getting hold of the drug for her daughter who had complained of a severe headache and fever.

"It just seems a bit ridiculous to only have one chemist in Harlow stocking the drug when they are not confirming cases any more," she said. "There's going to be a long queue outside that chemist if it spreads like they say it will."

A spokesman for West Essex Primary Care Trust said only four chemists in its area were stocking the medication but added that if the number of cases rises availability will be reviewed.

Meanwhile, some parents of pupils at Milwards Primary School, where two pupils have shown symptoms of the virus, have voiced concern at the decision to keep the school open.

One who contacted the Star said: "Seeing as we are only two weeks until summer holidays, wouldn't it be responsible act for the school to close? Why is it acceptable for other schools in the country to close but not ours?"

Another added: "It just seems a bit irresponsible of the school to stay open given the situation."

Essex County Council confirmed schools are being advised not to close because of individual cases of swine flu.

● THE number of people turning up at Princess Alexandra Hospital with suspected swine flu is low, according to a spokesman. Only a few patients complaining of symptoms are said to have turned up at A&E in the past few days.

Wife 'tried to kill disabled hubby'

A MOTHER-of-three tried to suffocate her husband, who suffers from the degenerative condition Motor Neurone Disease, while their three-year-old son sat in a car outside their Harlow home, a court heard this week.

Tracey Roffey, of Sheldon Close, first used a pillow and when that did not work it is alleged she placed a carrier bag over his head, a jury at Chelmsford Crown Court was told.

Mrs Roffey denies the attempted murder of her husband Gary (37), who was a £28,000 a year IT worker before being struck down by the disease which has left him immobile from the neck down.

Richard Kelly, prosecuting, said the couple had been married for 15 years and had three children when Mr Roffey was diagnosed MND in May 2006.

They moved to Harlow in 2007 and converted the garage of their home at Church Langley to a bedroom. By November 2008 Mr Roffey's condition had deteriorated significantly, said Mr Kelly.

Carers attended the house regularly and he had gone into respite care a number of times.

Mr Kelly said that on the day she tried to kill her husband, Mrs Roffey took two of their children to school. She then returned to the house and, while Mr Roffey was "dozing off" in bed, she placed a pillow over his head.

"Originally Mr Roffey thought it was a burglar but caught glimpses of her coat," said Mr Kelly. He said Mr Roffey pleaded for his life, telling her he loved her and she would go to prison if she killed him. She, however, is alleged to have told him she could no longer stand to live like they were any more.

Mr Kelly said that Mr Roffey had become very weak and quiet. When his wife realised the pillow was not working she held a bag tightly around his neck, telling him that she loved him and did not want to do it but she couldn't bear to see him suffer any more.

"He struggled for air and tried to put his tongue through the bag but blacked out," said

Mr Kelly. "It all lasted about 15-20 minutes.

Soon afterwards two carers arrived and, realising he had a problem contacted the ambulance service.

Mr Kelly said that both Mrs Roffey and her husband had believed that if he died she would receive a £350,000 insurance payout.

On Tuesday Mr Roffey took the oath from a wheelchair next to the witness box and then confirmed a recorded statement he made to police in which he described how his wife placed the pillow over him.

"She tried to stop me breathing, then dropped the pillow and put a Next bag over my head to kill me. She was trying to suffocate me. I felt myself drifting away."

The hearing continues.

Sadness at death of Pets' Corner's baby reindeer

STAFF at Pets' Corner were this week mourning the death of one of its star attractions.

The six-week-old baby reindeer, the first to be born in Harlow, died on Friday. Tests showed she had an infection in her small intestines which came on rapidly.

A spokesman for Harlow Council, which runs the Town Park attraction, said there was nothing staff at could do as the reindeer showed no sign of illness. "She will be greatly missed," he added.

The reindeer, which had not been named, was born at the end of May and had become a popular attraction with both staff and visitors.

Pets' Corner still has two resident reindeer - Belle, who was the baby reindeer's mother, and Holly.

Special report on the future of Harlow town centre

By CHRIS MOSS
moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

MOVE over Lakeside – these are the stunning new plans for Harlow's multi-million pound regeneration which developers hope will transform the town into one of the region's premier shopping destinations.

Initial designs for the hugely-anticipated makeover of the town centre's neglected north side finally go on public display today (Thursday) at the former Dorothy Perkins store in Broad Walk.

They provide the first glimpse of a revitalised, futuristic town centre teeming with shops, restaurants and leisure facilities.

Andy MacDonald, head of major projects for development firm Stockland which is tasked with delivering the project, said the redevelopment would transform the town into a shoppers' paradise.

"Harlow has really struggled in recent years against strong competition from out-of-town shopping centres such as Lakeside," he told the Star on Monday. "But these plans, although still at a very early stage, will see more and more residents – and indeed those from other towns – choosing Harlow as their number one destination for shopping and leisure activities."

The ambitious scheme could create up to 4,000 new jobs and includes plans for a new hotel, market place, leisure multiplex and bus station, with a department store and supermarket pencilled in to take up some of a proposed 450,000 sq.ft. of retail space. New homes, underground car parking and a revamped library and Terminus House also form part of the proposals, while a new theatre is provisionally planned for West Gate. It means The Playhouse could ultimately be redeveloped into further housing.

New buildings will be constructed using a range of sustainable materials, while green roofs, solar water heating and enhanced waste management and recycling facilities will help reduce the development's impact on the environment.

Neil Morris, managing director of architects Engle, added: "It is very important for us to try and rebalance the whole town, which is why we have tried to create a seamless transition between the recently redeveloped Water Gardens area and Town Centre North to form a cohesive whole."

A planning application is likely to be submitted to Harlow Council in summer 2010, with the completion of the first phase expected by 2013.

Visitors to the exhibition – which runs until Sunday – will be able to view detailed artists' impressions of the proposed developments, ask the development team questions and even watch an animated flyover of the plans using CGI graphics.

A new website including all the information on display has also been launched at www.harlowtowncentrenorth.co.uk

KEY

- A View along 'Crown Walk' (Terminus Street) from the new market
- B View along 'Grand Walk' (East Gate)
- C Aerial view looking south from above Fifth Avenue

- E View east along 'Grand Walk' (from West Square) looking towards the new department store
- F View looking north along 'Velizy Place' from 'Crown Walk' (Terminus Street)

THE Town Centre North scheme will comprise a total area of 1.3m sq.ft. broken up into separate allocations for different types of units. As the plans stand, the breakdown of space is as follows:

RETAIL: 450,000 sq.ft.
RESTAURANTS/CAFES: 30,000 sq.ft.
LEISURE FACILITIES: 90,000 sq.ft.
RESIDENTIAL: 420,000 sq.ft.
OFFICE SPACE: 140,000 sq.ft.
LIBRARY: 28,000 sq.ft.
HOTEL: 60,000 sq.ft.

All-party support for plans to transform the heart of town

THE bold vision for Harlow's future has won cross-party support on Harlow Council, with the leaders of each political group praising the proposals.

ANDREW JOHNSON
(Harlow Council leader)

"The Town Centre North scheme is a fantastic opportunity to improve Harlow and its town centre. We are now at a very exciting point in the project with the plans starting to come to life.

"There are some very impressive visuals of the scheme being unveiled and people can now see what the scheme could look like and how it can transform the whole town centre.

"We want as many people as possible to let us know what they think so we can develop the very best plans for the town centre. This is the start of ongoing consultation with residents, traders, businesses and anyone else with a stake in the town."

CHRIS MILLINGTON
(Liberal Democrat group leader)

"This scheme will improve the town centre and play a big part in Harlow's continued regeneration. It is at this stage that the plans, which people can now view, really start to get the interest of the community.

"We want to ensure that as the plans develop they take on board the views of those who matter – residents, traders and businesses. Therefore it's important that as many people as possible visit the public exhibition or the website to let us know what they think."

MARK WILKINSON
(Labour group leader)

"The Town Centre North scheme will make a huge difference to the whole town centre and these unveiled plans really show the impact the scheme will have.

"I would encourage as many people as possible to view the plans and have their say because this scheme is so important for Harlow's future. We want residents, traders and businesses to really feel part of this exciting scheme and they can do this by telling us what they think."

Bombing victim remembered at park memorial

A HARLOW woman killed in the 7/7 terror attacks in London has been remembered at the unveiling of an official memorial.

Anne Moffatt (48), who lived in Old Harlow, was head of marketing and communications for Girlguiding UK when she and 51 other people lost their lives in four separate explosions on Underground trains and buses on July 7, 2007.

She died when a bomb was detonated at Aldgate station.

Prince Charles, the Duchess of Cornwall and Prime Minister Gordon Brown led the tributes to the victims when the memorial was unveiled in Hyde Park on Tuesday.

It features 52 stainless steel columns, each one representing one of those who lost their lives.

A stainless steel plaque on which the names of the dead have been inscribed has been placed in the grass banks at the eastern end of the memorial.

Man (62) appears in court on GBH charge

A MAN has appeared at court charged with causing grievous bodily harm during an assault which left a 60-year-old man suffering severe head injuries.

Dennis Clarke (62), of Hobtoe Road, Harlow, was remanded in custody when appeared before Harlow magistrates on Thursday. The case will be heard at Chelmsford Crown Court in September. The alleged assault happened at about 2am on June 30 near to The Shark pub in Hodings Road. The injured man was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital before being transferred to Queen's Hospital in Romford.

Funeral 'delays' adding to grief of the bereaved

THE funerals of scores of people who die in Harlow are being delayed by as much as three weeks because of red tape and bureaucracy, it was claimed this week.

Humanist celebrant Graham Ward, who conducts non religious ceremonies at Harlow's Parndon Wood Crematorium, spoke out after dealing with a number of bereaved families who had been caused additional distress because of the problem.

In one case he said a woman who died on June 3 was not buried until 16 days later. In another instance the funeral of a person who passed away on May 8 was not held until June 3.

Mr Ward is now calling for urgent action to be taken to change the system.

"When someone dies and the cause of death is not clear and further investigation may be required, the matter is referred to the coroner and this is where the problem lies," he said this week.

"The coroners' department, which used to be the responsibility of the police, is now under Essex County Council. Details of the deceased are sent to the office where I understand they are dealt with in a date of death order.

"The problem with this is it may be five days before they come to the person who has died today - and then a decision is made as to whether a medical certificate can be issued or further investigation is required.

"Bereaved families are kept in limbo whilst these decisions are made. As a result of this it causes considerable delay in arranging the funeral because, without the medical certificate, the registrar cannot issue a death certificate.

"The result of this is that funerals are sometimes taking place three weeks or so after the person has died."

Mr Ward added: "The current system doesn't work so something must be done about it. It is no good people saying they are working on it. Urgent action is required now."

Essex County Council said the delays had been caused because of a high number of referred cases.

"This had resulted in cases taking longer to be assessed but it has been addressed and it should not be taking longer than a week for bodies to be released unless there are exceptional circumstances involved," said a spokesman.

He added that the county council was committed to making the service as efficient as possible.

Courteous cabbies pick up customer care NVQs

DRIVERS at a Harlow cab firm proved they have got what it takes when it comes to customer care after being presented with certificates of excellence.

Cabbies from A and Bee Cars passed an NVQ in customer relations and cab driving. They picked up written confirmation of their achievements at a ceremony last week.

The accolade was awarded after a tough 30-week course for which drivers gave up their own time to attend.

Cab firm owner Sid Ponton said: "I am really proud of them; they all did really well. This is an important award and I have already had inquiries from people who want to sit the next level."

Boys in blue and the men in black

By LOUISE SASSOON
News Editor
sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A TEAM of Harlow referees has laid down the gauntlet to the public to help them kick-start their charity fundraising efforts by supporting a football match.

The 11 match officials will be swapping their traditional black and white strip for team colours when they take on Harlow police officers to raise cash for St Clare Hospice.

Last year the annual match netted more than £1,000 for the Hastingwood hospice but organisers hope to score with an even bigger sum this time.

Terry Rackley, chairman of the Harlow Referees Society and a serving police officer, is part of the group which has organised the game which will be played

GAME OF TWO HALVES: Terry Rackley, who will play one half for the referees and the other for the police (s) at Harlow Town FC's stadium on Sunday, August 2. "One year we managed to raise £2,000 and I'm confident we can beat last year's total," he said. "Apart from the game itself, we'll also be operating a town centre stall where we will be selling programmes and other items and we have also set up a website at www.justgiving.com/harlowra for people to make donations. "Together with the players' minimum £10 for taking part in the game and private sponsorship, we should do it." This year a raft of celebrities including actors from TV show The Bill have been invited to attend.

Entertainment will also be laid on with a half time giveaway from the Kickz programme – a partnership with Harlow Police and Tottenham Hotspur – during which 50 pairs of football boots will be donated to underprivileged children. Inflatables, face painting and side stalls are also planned for the event and a barbeque will commence at approximately 1.30pm.

The admission charge, which will include the cost of a programme, has yet to be finalised but is expected to be around the £1 mark with all proceeds going to the hospice.

Meanwhile, Mr Rackley is looking forward to the event even though he admits he could have divided loyalties at kick-off. "As I have one foot in both camps I'll be playing one half for the referees and one half for the police," he said. "It will be a close call as to who wins but I think the referees will just edge it!"

Cancer charity's fundraising plea

A NATIONAL cancer charity is looking for volunteers willing to hold fundraising events in Harlow and the surrounding area.

With one in three people likely to be affected by cancer at some point in their lives, Macmillan Cancer Support wants people to help the cause by organising fundraising events.

"Whether it be a 1970s night, a quiz or a ball, every penny raised will help to improve a life," said a charity spokeswoman.

"Last year fundraising groups in Hertfordshire raised over £123,000. Volunteers really are vital to the work that Macmillan does and together we can reach Macmillan's ambition of reaching everyone affected by cancer."

Anyone interested in being part of a fundraising group or wanting to find out more about the work of the charity should call Kerry Briars on (01438) 712012 or email kbriars@macmillan.org.uk.

First anniversary

HARLOW'S Breathe Easy group celebrated its first anniversary in style when Harlow Council chairwoman Edna Stevens attended a meeting to address members and cut a birthday cake.

The group, which assists people suffering from all forms of breathing difficulty, has gone from strength to strength since it was formed.

Ms Stevens thanked members for inviting her to the celebration, adding: "The group is obviously thriving and provides an opportunity for people to meet others with the same health problems, talk together, get advice from medical experts, attend specially designed exercise classes and have a full social life."

The group meets on the second Tuesday of each month at the church hall in Purford Green, behind Manor Hatch.

Tombola appeal

AN appeal has been made for wine or spirits for a charity fun day.

Nearly 2,000 people attended last year's St Clare Hospice summer fete which this year will take place at the UG Sports and Social Club in London Road, Old Harlow, on July 19.

This week community fundraiser Vicky Parker appealed for donations of prizes for the tombola.

"We are very keen for anyone with in-date bottles of wine or spirits that they might have spare to donate them in advance of the fete so we can have a giant tombola on the day," she said.

Bottles can be delivered to the Hospice, Hastingwood Road, Hastingwood.

Sporting chance

SUPERMARKET giant Asda is appealing for all sports and activities providers in Harlow to help provide free sports for kids.

The Asda Sporting Chance scheme makes sports affordable for families on a tight budget and provides children with a broad range of sporting activity with at least five free sessions available within a 10-mile radius of the Water Gardens store during the school holidays.

Organisations interested in becoming part of the scheme, or parents who would like to discuss how it can benefit their children, should contact the Sporting Chance team on 0113 237 6500 or complete the 'Get In Touch' form on the company's website at www.asda-sportingchance.co.uk.

Friends dress up to raise hospice cash

FASHION was the name of the game when supporters of St Clare Hospice took to the catwalk for a fundraising show.

The event was organised by the Friends of St Clare Hospice and held at St John's ARC, Old Harlow. The show raised more than £600 for the hospice which helps people with life-limiting illnesses in Harlow and the surrounding area. Pictured, top, with Sandra Dwan from St Clare are volunteer fashion models Ann Flint and Delia Aller.

Festival will be celebrating the best of town's artistic talents

FESTIVAL fever will hit Harlow on Saturday when a musical extravaganza rock 'n' rolls its way into town

The second Midsummer Music Festival boasts four stages featuring some of the very best the town has to offer in the way of live music, dance and theatre and will focus exclusively on the wealth of local talent Harlow has to offer.

Scheduled to coincide with the exhibition of bold new designs for the town centre's regeneration, the festival swings into action with the rousing African rhythms of The Efiua Sey Cultural Academy on the main stage in Market Square at midday.

Home-grown punk-popsters Bite follow, along with The Taunts, The Feelmores, Ubaldo Esteban, alt-pop duo Popdad and rap-rock crossover kings Bushnut.

The Harvey Centre will play host to stripped-back acoustic sets from swirling psych-pop revivalists Penny Royal among others, while bandstands in The Water Gardens and Library Square will see live solo performances from singer-songwriters.

Acclaimed local dance school Hip Hop Pop will also perform a series of body-popping dance routines on the day, while former Playhouse manager Phil Dale's new theatre group Phoenix will give a preview of their forthcoming musical adaptation of Peter Pan.

Accused denies flasher offence

A MAN accused of indecently exposing himself and outraging public decency on a train in Harlow has appeared in court.

Piotr Nazrski (21), of The Knowle, Hoddesdon, denied the allegations when he attended Chelmsford Crown Court on Monday.

Nazrski was released on bail until August 10.

Occasio flat fire

FIREFIGHTERS were called to Occasio House in Harlow town centre in the early hours of Tuesday after fire broke out in a second floor flat.

The fire was reported shortly before 2.30am and the incident was dealt with within 30 minutes.

Leg it, there's a scary spider behind the bins!

A HARLOW family got a nasty shock when they found a venomous eight-legged visitor lurking behind their bins.

Mark and Heather Robinson, of Longfield, discovered the poisonous false widow spider when they were putting out their household waste for recycling last Wednesday evening.

Mr Robinson recognised the creepy-crawly from stories in the national press about the rise in sightings of the Black Widow's tamer cousin reported across the south of England. He caught it to have it identified by the Essex Field Club.

"I knew this was not your average household spider so I took extra care when capturing it as I'd heard it can give you a nasty bite," he said.

"I'd read stories about people reacting badly to its venom so I was determined not to let it get into the house and bite the dog or one of my kids."

Although the spiders, which are roughly the size of a 20 pence piece, are direct relatives of the potentially lethal Black Widow, their venom is much less potent and unlikely to cause any serious complications.

However, some people have suffered allergic reactions including one woman who was kept in intensive care for 26 hours after being bitten in her sleep.

Peter Harvey, of the Essex Field Club, said the specimen was most likely a female false widow. "It is considered harmless to humans, although any large spider should be treated with some respect and not handled with bare hands or squeezed," he added.

Elderly to pay £8 for vital support service

SCORES of elderly and vulnerable people who do not live in sheltered accommodation will have to fork out more than £30 a month for a vital support service which up until now has been free.

Under proposals agreed by councillors, residents who have signed up to the Outreach service will pay a weekly charge of £8.41 for the programme.

Harlow Council said the fee has been introduced in order to fund the expanding

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor
sassoona@hertsexnews.co.uk service. But the move, which is expected to raise an extra £10,000 a year, has been criticised by Harlow Pensioners' Action Association chairman Les Coben as unrealistic.

"I just don't know where the council thinks the pensioners will be able to find an extra £8 or so a week," he said. "That is a lot of money to come out of pensions a month and it just goes to show the people in charge of this town have no idea how ordinary people live."

As well as an emergency alarm system, service users will now also receive maintenance of the equipment, an emergency response from a sheltered housing officer when local family members are unavailable as well as regular visits by an officer on a weekly, fortnightly or monthly basis depending on need.

Residents receiving housing benefit will not have to pay the charge.

The scheme was introduced in 2006 to give people independence in their own homes but independent funding has come under increasing pressure.

The charge was agreed by members of the council's housing committee on Thursday. It follows on from a review of the council's sheltered housing scheme which highlighted the need to bolster outreach and floating support schemes.

Lee Dangerfield, chairman of the housing committee, said: "This scheme was running as a pilot from 2006 and funded by the Supporting People Programme."

"Now we want to officially formalise the service and expand it but due to the budget for the programme it can't be funded in the same way."

"By introducing a charge it will not only enable the service to continue at an enhanced level but also expand for more people in the town to benefit."

New look for pet store

A HARLOW pet store welcomed some exotic new arrivals when it celebrated its re-opening following a major refurbishment.

Pets At Home, in East Road, now boasts a dedicated reptile enclosure housing such creatures as geckos, bearded dragons and tortoises. Two fully-trained reptile experts are on hand to answer customers' questions.

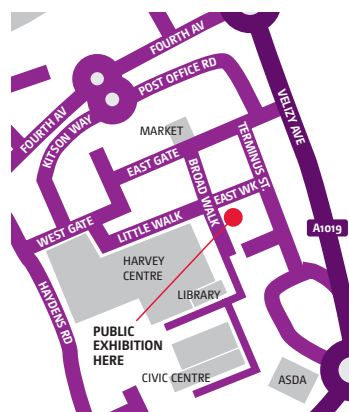

A new pet village has also been built to accommodate a variety of more traditional pets including rabbits, guinea pigs and hamsters, while a revamped aquatic centre contains more than 30 species of cold water and tropical fish.

Store manager Martyn Long said: "During the refurbishment we had to move all the pets and fish to another store to ensure they were safe and happy during the disruption."

"We're so excited to have them back with us and for customers to be able to enjoy them too. The store is looking great!"

Teenager hurt in fall from school window

A SCHOOLGIRL was taken to hospital after apparently jumping out of a classroom window.

The 14-year-old was said to have been in a first floor room at Stewards School, in Parnell Road, Harlow, on Friday morning when the incident happened.

Paramedics were called to the scene after she complained of pains in her back and pelvis.

Paramedic Gaynor Scaife, who was first to attend the scene with crew mate Colin Wilson, said the girl was very lucky not to have suffered more serious injuries. "As a precaution, we boarded and collared her," she said.

Stewards headteacher Rhonda Murthar said it had not been necessary to review the safety procedures as a result of the incident which had involved a pupil who had recently joined the school.

"The windows only open eight inches and they are fitted in most schools," she said. "The only thing we could do would be to close them but that would not be appropriate."

Parents' anguish over baby's birth

By LOUISE SASSOON

News Editor

sassoonl@hertssexnews.co.uk

THE parents of a boy found to have potentially permanent brain damage after his birth have accused hospital chiefs of ignoring their repeated requests for information.

Tests on Michael Day and Stacey Dixon's son, Louis, showed that two parts of his brain were not functioning properly after he was delivered at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital in May.

The hospital is currently carrying out an investigation into the circumstances of the birth which it said involved "complications".

But Mr Day (33) said he and his partner (25), of Holly Field, Harlow, have had virtually no contact with the hospital since they were sent home weeks ago.

"We just feel as though now they have got us out the door they have forgotten about us and have washed their hands of us," he told the Star this week.

"I have called the hospital myself and have been told that all the information from people who need to be spoken to has not been collected yet and it could be another four months.

"You would think that with something as serious as this they would speak to who they have got to speak to in a day or two."

He added: "There has been no communication since then and we just don't know what to do. I know the wheels turn slowly but this has just been so upsetting."

UPSET: Seven-week-old Louis with mum Stacey, dad Michael and brother Ethan (4) (photo: HAR0573909)

Louis was born at the hospital on May 18. Initial scans showed two parts of his brain were not functioning as they should and may never recover.

His parents have been told he could suffer learning difficulties or even cerebral palsy.

"This has just been such an emotional last few weeks in which we have wanted support from the hospital but not felt as though we are getting it," said Mr Day.

"I just think the whole way we have been dealt with is appalling. We are devastated."

A PAH spokesman confirmed an investigation is under way.

"It is true there were complications with the birth and we are now conducting an investigation, as is the normal course, and reviewing the case," he said.

"We will be in contact with the mother in due course once the investigation is complete."

Attacker threatened to throw 'friend' under wheels of train

TWO men have been jailed for an attack during which a recovering drug addict was threatened with being thrown under a train.

Nigel Walters (25), of Fullers Mead, Harlow, and Ricky Sheridan (29), of Challinor, Harlow, admitted assault causing actual bodily harm when they appeared at Chelmsford Crown Court.

Walters was jailed for 22 weeks and Sheridan for 20 weeks.

Richard Wood, prosecuting, said the assault happened at a train station after Walters asked the victim, who he had known for four years, for some drugs.

When the victim said he had no drugs on him, Walters became angry and threatened to throw him under a train.

Mr Wood said Sheridan then became involved in the confrontation, helping Walters to bundle the victim into public toilets and repeatedly punching and kicking him. The victim suffered a black eye and bruising.

Jane Oldfield, representing Walters, said he and the victim saw each other regularly before and after the incident and were still friendly. He denied he kicked him.

She said the attack was a "spur of the moment thing".

Ms Oldfield said Walters had first started taking drugs at the age of 12 and had been battling with a drug addiction for many years.

Sheridan also admitted three offences of supplying heroin and crack cocaine to an undercover police officer in September last year and asked for 29 other offences which were committed between April 2006 and November 2008 – mostly shoplifting – to be taken into consideration.

He was jailed for 16 months for each of the drug offences – the sentences to run concurrently but consecutive to the five months he received for the assault, making a total of 21 months.

The court heard that Sheridan is already serving an 18-month prison term for supplying drugs and shoplifting. The latest sentence will start immediately and run concurrently with the one he is currently serving.

Splashing out on a new paddling pool sculpture

HARLOW'S latest piece of public art has been officially unveiled.

Shoal by artist Will Spankie now stands in the Town Park paddling pool, replacing Two Children On A Rock which was damaged by vandals.

The sculpture, which is made from Kilkenny limestone and depicts a shoal of small fish swimming around a circular stone, was one of the winning projects in the Star-backed Harlow Hotspots competition run by Harlow Renaissance with financial support provided by both Essex County Council and Harlow Council.

Speaking at the unveiling ceremony, Harlow Council vice-chairwoman Sue Livings said: "When the paddling pool opens in just a few weeks time I'm sure local children will delight in having a new sculpture to enjoy and explore."

Andrew Bramidge, chief executive of Harlow Renaissance added: "We see this as being another positive step in the promotion of the town and will help people to see something different in Harlow."

Baby boom keeping maternity unit busy

HARLOW is experiencing a baby boom after figures show more people than ever are giving birth at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

On average 300 babies are born each month at the maternity unit but last month a record 347 babies were born to 340 women.

If the trend continues as hospital chiefs believe it will, just under 4,000 babies will have been born at PAH during 2009.

Part of the hospital's popularity has been the new birthing centre which has delivered 1,110 babies since it opened two-and-a-half years ago.

Wendy Matthews, director of women's and children's services, said: "June was a real bumper month and the next three months are looking similarly busy. We delivered 3,684 babies last year and are well on target to go over the 3,800 mark by the end of this year.

"With all this hot weather, who knows what might be happening at the unit in a few months time!"

Award-winning Kerrie is the queen of colour

A HARLOW hairdresser has been recognised as one of the UK's top hair colourists.

Kerrie Wright, who works at the Avant Garde salons in The Rows and at Bishop's Stortford, received a Wella Professional Master Colour Award, given to colourists who show the highest level in client care, personalised colour and colouring techniques.

Ms Wright said: "I am really excited to have achieved this prestigious award. I have always had a passion for colour due to the technical expertise needed to achieve the latest looks and fashion."

A414 jambuster plans go on public display

Meet the town's mounted police

A DRIVE to increase police presence in parts Harlow will see officers swapping panda cars for pedal power.

Operation Velo, which launched in the town on Thursday, will see more bobbies on bicycle patrol.

The project has been rolled out across the entire western division of Harlow, Epping and Brentwood in response to calls for a return to "traditional policing" which Essex Police claims the public wants.

Superintendent Keith Dobson said: "Officers will be able patrol and access places where police cars cannot necessarily get to whilst providing an increased police visible presence in our neighbourhoods.

"Bike patrols will enable officers to be more accessible to local residents and assist in reducing crime and anti-social behaviour as well as our carbon footprint."

ON YOUR BIKE: Pictured with Harlow PCSOs at the launch of Operation Velo are Superintendent Keith Dobson, PC Rob Hance and Inspector Andy Bray (s)

He added: "Operation Velo

also allows our officers and the public to talk to each other more easily and it really does give a whole new meaning to re-cycling."

BLUEPRINTS for a major road scheme to reduce snarl-ups at a notorious Harlow bottleneck have been under public scrutiny this week.

A number of exhibitions outlining proposals to widen the A414 from the M11 roundabout to Southern Way have been staged throughout the town to give residents the chance to voice their views.

The £9.9m project, which is planned for completion in 2011, could see the road dualled and traffic lights installed at the Southern Way roundabout.

Essex County Council, which is spearheading the scheme, hopes the changes will allow traffic to flow more freely along the road which suffers badly from traffic jams at peak times.

Pedestrians and cycling crossings are also being improved as part of the proposed scheme, with better pavements and dedicated cycle paths.

Councillor Norman Hume, cabinet member for highways and transportation at Essex County Council, said: "The A414-M11 project will bring

By LOUISE SASSOON

News Editor

sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk

benefits to businesses and residents and help Harlow to maximise its potential by significantly reducing congestion on the town's busiest access route.

"I am confident the scheme will cut journey times and reduce delays on this vital route."

Funding for the project has been secured from the Community Infrastructure Fund, although final details are still being clarified with Government representatives.

The proposal has already won the support of Harlow MP Bill Rammell, who said the upgrade is crucial for the construction of new affordable homes for rent in the area.

Conservative Parliamentary hopeful Robert Halfon has also said the plan is long-awaited and much-needed.

The consultations started on Friday and will continue at the Civic Centre in The Water Gardens until Monday. Details can also be viewed online at www.essex.gov.uk.

Farewell to a Latton legend

LATTON GREEN: A teaching stalwart is calling time on his 38 years in the profession. Dyfrig Powell moved to Harlow from Wales in 1971 and took up his first teaching post at the school in Riddings Lane, Harlow.

Headteacher Lorna Handscomb said: "Dyfrig is a proud Welsh man yet modest in character with a fantastic sense of humour. He established himself as a committed and extremely popular member of staff and will be much missed by all."

"Pupils over the years recall him as their favourite teacher and he has regularly found himself introduced to new parents at the school and then told they had been in his class when they attended the school themselves."

"He has hardly missed a working day. The only time he was absent from school for any length of time was when he was stranded in Wales by heavy snow many years ago. He will certainly leave a large gap but he richly deserves a long and happy retirement."

Mr Powell is also well-known across the town for his contribution to sport, particularly in the field of rugby. Last year he was honoured for his long service and support for Harlow Rugby Club.

He has also organised the school's sports teams for many years.

To mark his retirement, current and former colleagues, pupils and parents are organising a special party on Saturday, July 18. Anyone wishing to attend should call the school office for further details and to be added to the guest list.

Pupils on road to Parliament

HOLY CROSS: Pupils lorded it with their peers on a trip to London when they visited the Houses of Parliament.

Year 6 pupils and school council members were taken on a guided tour of the buildings before they went to Westminster Cathedral and 10 Downing Street, pictured left.

The day was organised with the help of Harlow MP Bill Rammell and Conservative prospective Parliamentary candidate Robert Halfon to celebrate the school finishing in the top 25 per cent of performers in the country and to further the children's citizenship lessons.

Headteacher Sue McGuigan said: "The children had an absolutely fantastic time and loved it. It was a good opportunity for the school council and Year 6 to learn about citizenship and celebrate the school's achievement which has been recognised nationally."

Top marks again for nursery

KIDDI CARU: Staff and children have been celebrating after receiving a glowing report from schools watchdogs.

Ofsted inspectors who visited the nursery in Kiln Lane praised the quality of child care and education, describing the standard of both as exceptionally high.

In their report, the inspectors said staff supported every child so that no group or individual was disadvantaged and each child's uniqueness was recognised.

They added the nursery had developed exemplary partnerships with parents to ensure the individual needs of every child was met, making them feel happy and confident in their surroundings.

It is the second time the nursery has been given an 'outstanding' grade. Nursery manager Kelly Walker-Reid said: "I have been the manager here since it opened back in 2004 and I am delighted with the outcome and cannot praise my team enough. They have the dedication and desire to offer the very best childcare."

She added: "The team is absolutely ecstatic, especially those who were able to celebrate this amazing outcome for a second time!"

Don't forget all Bill's hard work

SIR, When I was the MP for Harlow prior to 1983, the pay was less than 25 per cent of the present level and expenses very limited. It was under Mrs Thatcher that the use of the London allowance to buy flats and apartments was authorised.

I utterly deplore the system and the abuses committed by some MPs of all parties. We need, however, to retain a sense of balance in judging Bill Rammell, who used the system but has not transgressed any of the rules.

Although I have differed with Bill on some important issues of policy, he has been a most conscientious and committed MP who has worked incessantly to serve all constituents to the limit of his abilities.

For him there is no such thing as office hours; he works from morning to night, including weekends. His home and family are usually put second to his public responsibilities. Yet the salary of an MP is much less than that of bankers, industrialists, BBC executives, top journalists, local government executives, headteachers and many others. The expense allowances enjoyed by some of these greatly exceed those of MPs, though they have not been exposed to public view.

The current Parliamentary expenses system should be scrapped, but we need to put our criticism of Bill Rammell into perspective and remember all the immensely positive work he has done.

Stan Newens
Park Hill, Harlow

Salary not £40k

SIR, I have made very clear that the MPs' expenses system needs root and branch reform and I have stopped claiming the housing allowance completely.

However, Ms Beckers claims that I pay my wife £40,000 per annum (Letters, July 2). This is just not true.

I do employ my wife as my diary secretary, just as Jerry Hayes and Stan Newens employed their wives in this role. But I pay my wife £4,600 per annum, not £40,000 per annum as falsely claimed.

Bill Rammell MP
House of Commons

Hard to believe

SIR, I see that Mr Rammell is still asserting he is in the bottom 25 per cent of claimants for expenses when in 2004/5 he was joint first with his ACA claim of £20,902 and £19,927 the following year (Letters, July 2).

Is he working on the theory that if you say something often enough, people will believe you? Well, judging by recent correspondence in the Star, it's clear that this isn't going to happen. Mr Brown would be proud of Harlow as so many of its residents obviously already have broadband and know how to use it to great effect!

Mr Rammell's letter goes on: "And we can do without attempts at partisan point-scoring between the parties. All MPs from all parties have been damaged by the expenses scandal". Very true, all the parties are involved. But they are not our MP and the other parties did not get elected into Government under the banner of being whiter than white, promising to get away from any suggestion of sleaze.

How would Mr Rammell claim that he has upheld this promise? He only started decrying the system when it became quite clear that all receipts would be published.

Immoral? Let the people of Harlow judge.

Ann Russell-Day
Sycamore Field, Harlow

There is no such thing as a service that's free

SIR, The letter from M. Smart suggests that patients visiting the Addison House surgery should be able to purchase vouchers for parking at Wych Elm car park ("Parking shock", June 25).

What advantage would this be over purchasing tickets from the automated machines at the car park? How would anyone know whether the vouchers are genuinely being used to visit the surgery? Would the surgery welcome having to verify that those applying for vouchers are actually patients at the surgery?

The administration involved would make the vouchers far more expensive and patients would presumably have to come to the Civic Centre to buy them, unless the surgery is willing to take on that extra burden. Does he think Harlow Council operates the surgery?

Mr Smart also asks how the elderly and those on benefits can manage the parking charges.

Firstly, the elderly now have the Government's 'free' bus travel (which is not actually free because we all pay for it through taxation and it costs Harlow Council over £600,000k a year to make up the shortfall). A service operates from near Mr Smart's home to the town centre every 20 minutes.

Secondly, choosing between using your car and having a meal is not a good way to illustrate the case, as many people who are on benefits will understand.

I'm afraid it is Mr Smart who needs to wake up to the real world. Who do you think pays for all the 'free' services you want?

Tony Hall, chairman
Environment & Community Committee
Harlow Council

Protest vote

SIR, Once again an MP just does not get it! How come an MP for Harlow needs a second home in the first place? Why not commute with the rest of us?

I know sometimes they have to work late into the evening on occasions but why not get a hotel for those odd nights?

The fact Labour is doing so appallingly in the polls has meant that Mr Rammell's seat is in a pretty precarious position, but any chance some locals may decide not to vote Conservative as a protest vote might now be swayed anyway.

On the subject of wheelie bins, I just don't see what the fuss is all about. Having come from a place where wheelie bins were the norm, I always found Harlow backwards in that respect and personally I look forward to getting mine.

I am sure in a few months everyone will wonder what all the fuss was about. Of course the foxes and the stray cats won't see it that way as it will make it harder for them to get at the waste.

Perhaps it is fox lovers who are complaining!

Adrian Deeks
Tunneade, Harlow

Running scared

SIR, The courage and sacrifice of British troops fighting and dying in an unwinnable war in Afghanistan is in sharp contrast to that of Armed Forces Minister and Harlow MP Bill Rammell, who is running scared from the challenge by Robert Halfon to justify his expense claims at a public meeting (Star, July 2).

It says everything about our MP in a nutshell really.

David Pugh
Copse Hill, Harlow

Fence danger

SIR, Our council workers need to check up on their repair work, especially in The Briars.

The area has been improved with new lighting etc, but the new wooden fences are a hazard as my daughter found out!

While out with her friends she was pushed on to one of these fences and suffered a huge gash to her inner thigh, caused by the screws which hold the metal plate onto the piece of wood which were not flush.

The injury has kept my daughter off school because she couldn't place any weight on her leg. Her wound has become infected and it will most probably leave a scar!

So much for the inspectors checking the work that has been done. Or is this acceptable to them?

D. Wharton
The Briars, Harlow

Repair roads

SIR, In a recent Sunday newspaper article we were informed that Essex County Council is going into partnership with a Spanish bank to the tune of £50m of taxpayers' money to open a bank to be called The Bank of Essex.

To many people this might sound laudable, but I and probably a lot more residents of Harlow believe the county council should spend this £50m on repairing our roads and pavements.

I am sure Star readers can tell us of many places in Harlow where there is great need for repairs. I will give just one shining example - outside Quattro in Post Office Road. The pavements there are in a shocking state and just round the corner in North Gate the road has potholes four-five inches deep and about 18 inches in circumference.

Is this what we pay very high council tax for? Or are we one of the poorer areas maybe it doesn't matter what we think.

Les Coben, chairman
Harlow Pensioners Action Association

It's our money

SIR, One can almost feel sorry for Harlow Council. It's one thing after another, except it is our money being wasted by them.

This month we learn from the Star it's not only tennis courts out of use due to lack of maintenance but £65,000 wasted on an empty swimming pool plus the High Court defeat (another £24,000) over the welfare rights saga.

Thanks to the Star and the Taxpayers' Alliance for informing us because it seems we may have well paid staff doing rubbishy jobs funded through our council tax.

Eight arrested as new police purge targets burglars

POLICE have mounted a major operation to tackle the growing number of burglaries in Harlow and the surrounding districts.

Scores of officers from the CID and traffic departments are involved in the purge which it is hoped will slash the number of break-ins across the western district which covers Harlow, Epping Forest and Brentwood.

More than 250 road checks have been carried out, resulting in the seizure of ten vehicles and the arrest of eight people for offences including burglary, possession of drugs with intent to supply, drink-driving, fraud and theft.

Divisional commander Chief Superintendent Tim Stokes said: "Burglars cause misery to residents by causing damage to their homes and stealing their valuable possessions."

"I will not tolerate this or any crime happening in my division and as such have established this operation with the aim of flushing out any people intent on committing crime, especially burglary offences, in my area."

ONE of Harlow's secondary schools showed off its green credentials by switching on new rooftop solar panels on Monday.

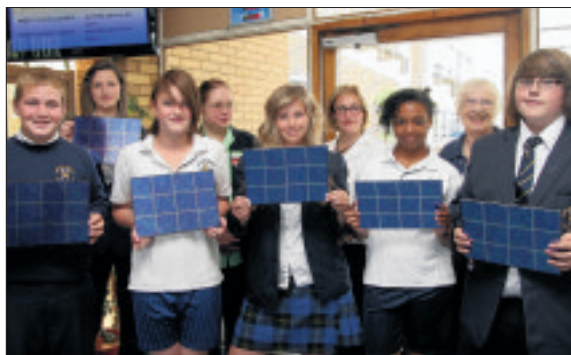

Representatives of the local Co-operative joined pupils and staff at Mark Hall School for the launch of the eco-friendly initiative which was funded by the Co-op's Green Energy for Schools and the Government's Low Carbon Building programmes.

The school, in First Avenue, is one of just 80 in the UK to benefit from the scheme.

Pupils will be able to keep track of how much renewable energy the panels are generating and the amount of carbon dioxide they have saved by checking a monitor in the school building.

Headteacher Jane Hadlow said: "We are proud to be among the schools leading the way on renewable energy through this generous Co-operative scheme."

"We are already working hard to reduce the school's carbon footprint

and switching on these rooftop solar panels will instantly boost our efforts while sending out a strong message about our commitment to helping the environment."

The 24 photo-voltaic panels should generate around 3,300 kWh of electricity – enough to power a school computer for 33,000 hours – and save approximately two tonnes of carbon dioxide every year.

Christine Kryst, manager of the Co-operative food store in Old Harlow, said: "This clean, silent technology will help educate Mark Hall's pupils about green energy as well as reducing the school's reliance on fossil fuels."

"We hope the switch-on of these rooftop solar panels will give the whole community a jolt by sending out a strong message about the urgent need to do what we can to tackle climate change."

From a London slum to life in the countryside

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor
sassoona@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A PHOTOGRAPH we published on this page a few weeks ago is still generating a healthy response from readers who remember the pond at Harlow Common.

One of those to get in touch is Michael Caswell, who contacted us to say the photograph stirred happy memories of his childhood in Harlow.

"I came to the town in 1953 with my parents as an only child of four years old from Canning Town," he writes. "We arrived in the autumn and moved in to Perry Spring which at the time had just been built.

"As kids from the slums of London, suddenly we were in a new world, free to run about and enjoy the countryside. Incidentally, I still have the green booklet issued by the development corporation telling us how to respect the countryside.

"My first memory of the Common was of a farmer cutting the hay or grass and we would drag arms full of this to make a camp in the ditch. Then, when we were a little older, we could spread out and we suddenly found the little pond.

"We loved fishing there with a stick and string. No doubt the pond was stocked with mini whales but they never gave up to us.

This picture arrives courtesy of June Lawrence, who has cropped up on the pages of Nostalgia before now recalling her memories of working at Harlow electronics firm Cossor. The photograph was taken in the late 1950s and shows Cossor staff on a work outing.

Mrs Lawrence cannot recall the destination but would like to know if any of our readers can help. If you were a worker who went on the trip and want to share your memories, write or email us at the address which is printed below at the end of this week's article about Harlow Common pond.

"Another dare was to go scumping. There was a large house, now demolished, with a big garden on the corner of Mill Street where the road now turns.

"We found that there was a small orchard and, boys being ravenous, we could crawl through the hedge and help ourselves. That was until the owner caught us and chased us away."

Mr Caswell finishes his letter with this appeal to Star readers: "I would like to ask if anyone remembers the big black barn used as a shop in Potter Street opposite Larters Garage.

"I think it was Welfords and was lit by large hanging lamps on the roof. I also want to know if anyone remembers Mrs Wright's Dairy with the stables behind or the time the King's Head was demolished or Bailey's Yard in Red Lion Lane."

If you can help Mr Caswell with any information, write to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email sassoona@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

STC to expand

One of the town's major employers will be taking on another 1,000 people over the next five years. The Standard Telephone and Cables Company revealed the expansion plans at a meeting.

Vandalism threat

Escalating vandalism at Kingsmoor House could lead to somebody being seriously injured. That is the worry of Harlow Council which keeps footing the bill for repeated attacks on the building.

Post office fears

Old Harlow councillors and MP Jerry Hayes had a meeting to discuss the fate of Old Harlow Post Office. Mr Hayes expressed the deep concern of many Old Harlow residents about proposals to reduce the level of service.

Final whistle for FC?

Harlow Town Football Club Ltd is likely to go into voluntary liquidation after a meeting of creditors. The company hit financial problems earlier this year and, despite attempts to keep it afloat, it now looks as though time is running out.

Harlow's new waste collections

Eat well and waste less

Every day in the UK we throw away:

7 million slices of bread
1 million slices of ham
1.3 million yoghurts/yoghurt drinks
4.4 million apples
1.6 million bananas

Waste food costs every household over £50 per month, but with a few tips we could reduce the amount that we thrown away.

But not every item of food can be used – for example meat bones– and where it cannot be composted at home, there will be a new food waste collection system coming to Harlow.

Harlow's New Food Waste Collection

Food waste will continue to be collected weekly when the new waste collection arrangements start from September. Every low rise property will be part of the new scheme and will receive a small kitchen caddy and a bucket sized bin for food waste.

The small caddy is to keep in the kitchen and the larger bucket sized container is to be presented for collection by the crews.

The food waste will always be collected weekly (the day may move due to Bank Holiday arrangements as at present).

The larger container has a lockable lid, which in addition to the weekly collection will ensure that there are no additional problems with vermin or smells.

The panel below shows the items that can go in the food waste bins. Hopefully with the following tips you will be able to make the most of your food and keep the waste, and the cost, to a minimum.

How to cut down on food waste

- Plan your meals - make a fortnightly plan of the meals that you'll cook and the items you'll need. Try to resist impulse buys
- Keep essentials in the store cupboard such as tins and packets
- Keep checking the use by and best before dates in the fridge to make sure items do not go out of date
- Check portions - particularly of rice, pasta and potatoes. Many packets have suggested amounts to use per person or use the WRAP website calculator
- Make the best use of your freezer. You can use leftovers to make your own ready meals to freeze

The WRAP "Love Food Hate Waste" campaign website contains recipes to keep food waste to a minimum and tips for freezing (www.wrap.org.uk)

Date details

The difference between the dates on food can be confusing - so how can you tell if an item's safe to eat?

You will see 'use by' dates on food that goes off quickly, such as smoked fish, meat products and ready-prepared salads.

You could risk your health if you use any food or drink after the end of the 'use by' date on the label, even if it looks and smells fine. You must still follow cooking or refrigerating/freezing instructions on the packaging.

'Use by' does not always mean 'eat by'. If a food can be frozen its life can be extended beyond the 'use by' date if frozen promptly.

Once a food with a 'use by' date on it has been opened, you also need to follow any instructions such as 'eat within a week of opening'. But if the 'use by' date is tomorrow, then you must use the food by the end of tomorrow, even if you only opened it today.

Best before

'Best before' dates appear on a wide range of frozen, dried, tinned and other foods.

The 'best before' dates are more about quality than safety. So when the date runs out it doesn't mean that the food will be harmful, but it might begin to lose its flavour and texture. The exception is eggs as harmful bacteria can multiply. These must be used by the best before date.

And remember, the 'best before' date will only be accurate if the food is stored according to the instructions on the label, such as 'store in a cool dry place' or 'keep in the fridge once opened'.

In Memoriam

SPOONER. John. 8th July 1997 Thinking of the love we shared and I only have the fondest memories of you. Love always, Kathy.

SPOONER. John. Pops, thinking of you as I always do. You will never be forgotten. Love, Danny, Zoe, Izzi-Mae, Millie.

SPOONER. John. Dad, if I had one wish it would be to have you home again. Always in our hearts. Love Donna, Darren, Grace, Archie, Chester.

Acknowledgements

LAKE. William. (Bill) Pat would like to thank all family, friends and neighbours for lovely cards, flowers and kind words.

PAUL RICHARD FELTHAM

25.07.52 - 08.06.09

Pat, Krizim, Cassie, Daphne and Sue would like to say a heartfelt thank you to all the Ivory family for their continuing love and support. A big thank you to all our friends, neighbours and colleagues for the many messages of sympathy, the lovely cards and flowers and the donations to St. Clare Hospice. Thanks to Revd Albert Watson for the lovely service.

JON SIVYER

People say 20 years have passed Jon, but to us it's like yesterday. We saw your face, we heard you laugh, your footsteps coming along the path. They also say that time will heal as we go on day by day, but the aching in our hearts for you will never go away. Miss you and dad so much, take care of each other, and God bless you both, until we all meet again. Lots of love from Mum.

Worrying time for UK's puffins

SCIENTISTS are sticking tracking devices to puffins to try and figure out why the numbers of these distinctive seabirds are dropping.

The puffin population had been steadily growing over the past few years, but last year there was a sudden sharp drop in numbers.

Now researchers based on the UK's biggest puffin colony – the Farne Islands off the north-east coast of Britain – are attaching tiny recording devices to the birds in order to track where they go.

It is hoped the information they gain can be used to figure out what might be causing their decline.

A count of puffins carried out in 2003 showed the puffin population of the Farne Islands was in excess of 55,000 birds. But just five years later that that number had plummeted to just 36,500.

"These tracking devices are important for the out-of-breeding season because we know very little about what the birds are doing," said bird expert Dr Richard Bevan.

"We have got an idea that they are spending their time out in the North Sea, but are they? How much time are they spending out there? Where are they going?"

Because female puffins lay only one egg a year, the deaths of a large number of adult birds over a few years can badly hit the population.

In Iceland and the Faroe Islands, puffins are considered a delicacy and area hunted for their meat and eggs.

Happy Birthday

Opportunities for buyers increase as mortgage approvals rise

With figures showing a steady rise in the number of mortgage approvals from the UK's major banks over the last six months, local estate agency haart advises that now is an ideal time for buyers to capitalise on lower house prices.

Statistics from the British Banker's Association (BBA) show the number of approvals for house purchases rose to 31,162 in May, up 15.8% on the same time last year.

haart in Harlow suggests that with rising demand for rented accommodation and increasing competitiveness within the lettings market, exiting that market to become a homeowner has become even more appealing.

Shawn Meakins, Senior Branch Partner said: "The rising number of mortgage approvals are a strong signal of future activity in the housing market."

"This is a good sign for everyone, but particularly for first-time buyers who have been negotiating the poor market conditions for months, trying to get a foot on the first rung of the ladder."

Recent research by the Chartered Institute of Housing (CIH) has shown that some 70% of young people still believe homeownership is a good long term investment and that owning their own home would be the ideal living situation.

Paul Smith, the Chief Executive of haart - which is part of Britain's largest independent estate agency group - added: "Ownership brings security and for this reason, will always be sought after. The increase in mortgage approvals will give a much-needed boost to the property market and will show buyers that despite the downturn, they are able to buy and lenders are willing to lend."

"Now is the perfect time to take advantage of low property prices and invest in your future."

For further information on purchasing options, please contact our branch on 01279 44 33 11.

Players take to stage with '80s TV sit-com

AM-DRAM favourites the Moot House Players will be hoping to revive happy memories of the late, great John Thaw in a rare comedy role when their new production opens at Moot Hall tonight (Thursday).

Eric Chappell's Father's Day is based on the TV comedy Home To Roost which starred Thaw as crotchety divorcé Henry Willows, who finds his comfortable, solitary lifestyle disrupted by the sudden appearance of his estranged teenage son Matthew (originally played by Reece Dinsdale).

The popular ITV show ran for four series from 1985-1990 but Chappell adapted much of his material for the two-act play from the first series.

The action begins on a cold winter's evening as bitter misanthrope Henry is enjoying a Scotch and some classical music in glorious solitude.

His bliss is soon disrupted, however, by the unwelcome appearance of Matthew and his new girlfriend, the morose, monosyllabic goth-punk Christine.

By CHRIS MOSS

moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

Matthew is keen to build bridges with his father, but obstinate Henry is quite happy with his uncomplicated life and the dialogue begins to get heated when, all of a sudden, Henry's ex-wife Sue turns up on the doorstep.

As the cold night wears on, Henry and Sue can't help but rake over the ashes of their seemingly dead relationship and, to their mutual surprise, the faint glow of a new tenderness develops between them. Before long Henry is facing some important decisions.

Directed by Claire Quley, the Players' production features Jon McNamara as Henry and Dan Powell as Matthew, with Biddy McAlpine taking on the role of Sue and Kerry Rowland as Christine.

"Father's Day is a warm and touching comedy," said Claire. "Henry and Matthew are constantly at loggerheads but the truth of the matter is that they are birds of a feather whose personalities often clash head-on."

The production runs until Saturday with performances starting at 8pm. Tickets cost £8 (£6 concessions) and are available from the box office on (01279) 639170.

what's on

DRAMA: Local playwright Andrew Prangnell's gritty new drama Sandcastles continues a four-night run at the Victoria Hall Theatre in Old Harlow tonight (Thursday). The uncompromising tale of three brothers whose strained relationship is pushed to breaking point, the play takes an unflinching look at some of life's bleaker truths. Pictured above are cast members Jamie Anderson, Ben Parsley, Jim Thompson and Kate Millner. The play runs until Saturday evening, with performances starting at 8pm. Tickets priced £8 (£6 concessions) are available from (01279) 420062.

DANCE: The talented youngsters at Highams School of Dancing present an action-packed show of gravity-defying dance at The Playhouse on Friday and Saturday night. Incorporating everything from a swashbuckling pirate battle on the high seas to an underwater-themed dance inspired by Disney's The Little Mermaid, the shows promises fun for all the family. Performances begin at 7.30pm and tickets cost £13 (£11 concessions) from (01279) 431945.

ART: An inspired collection of paintings and carvings by artist Anthony Lysycia – whose intriguing stone carving The Flowing River sits proudly at Harlow Mill Lock – is now on display at The Gallery At Parndon Mill. The exhibition runs until August 9 and admission is free.

ART: A colourful exhibition of artwork by students studying at Harlow secondary schools is currently on display at The Gibberd Gallery in The Civic Centre. Featuring paintings, three-dimensional work, ceramics and textiles produced by students in Year 11 and below, the exhibition runs until July 17 and admission is free.

Now that's what I call a birthday bash

1st BIRTHDAY EXTRAVAGANZA The Square, Harlow

WHAT a difference a year makes. Cast your minds back to the spring of last year and you'll recall The Square was facing an interminably bleak future controlled by the fizzy-pop wielding fun police at Essex County Council.

Fast forward to Saturday night and the same venue was awash with booze, balloons and maximum rhythm 'n' blues as patrons young and old celebrated its remarkable turnaround into the kind of place legends are born, heroes are worshipped and grown men awkwardly express themselves through the medium of dance.

What better way to celebrate the first anniversary than with a line-up that encapsulates everything The Square stands for – the nurturing of young talent, the diehard support of the gracious success story who never forgets where he's from and the wide-eyed welcome of the bona-fide legends nobody wants to forget.

Unfortunately, an unsavoury combination of gin, sunstroke and shrunken trousers precluded me from witnessing anything but the last two songs of opening act Bite's undoubtedly blistering set, but what little I saw of the precocious teenage tearaways was brain-meltingly sublime – a suitably riotous racket of palpitating punk-rock insanity.

Next up was Subways frontman and Square favourite son Billy Lunn, showing his softer side with an impeccable set of acoustic loveliness. Incorporating everything from a hauntingly fragile version of Rock & Roll Queen to a rousing sing-along cover of The Beatles' You've Got To Hide Your Love Away, his endearingly informal performance was eloquent and affecting. Capping off another effortlessly brilliant evening, the unstoppable R&B whirlwind that is legendary pub-rockers Eddie & The Hot Rods then took to the stage with some breathlessly brilliant proto-punk.

Like a supercharged Rolling Stones playing chicken with The Damned, the relentless five-piece powered through their set at a furious pace, feeding off the thrilling guitar duels between Chris Taylor and The Square's very own Richard Holgarth.

With gigs like this now a weekly occurrence, The Square should be celebrating birthdays well into old age and beyond.

PUBLIC ENEMIES

Perfectionist director Michael Mann dons his fedora to Depression-era bank robber John Dillinger in this beautifully-crafted biopic starring Johnny Depp as the roguish gangster and Christian Bale as the cool FBI agent enlisted to hunt him down.

ICE AGE: DAWN OF THE DINOSAURS (3D)

Sid the sloth is taken to a dangerous subterranean kingdom after stealing dinosaur eggs and his loyal friends begin a rescue mission. The third instalment of the computer-animated Ice Age series is the weakest adventure so far, lacking inventive visuals or a clever screenplay to appeal simultaneously to adults and children.

TRANSFORMERS: REVENGE OF THE FALLEN

The robots in disguise continue their age-old feud in the eagerly-awaited sequel to one of the biggest box office hits of 2007. It pushes the visual effects envelope with more outrageous slam-bang thrills and skirmishes between the noble Autobots and their sworn enemies, the Decepticons.

THE HANGOVER

Three best men misplace the groom during an alcohol-fuelled stag weekend in Las Vegas. The gags predominantly miss rather than hit, but the rapport between the leads ensures at least one or two belly laughs.

BRUNO

LIGHTNING doesn't strike twice for Sacha Baron Cohen in his eagerly-awaited follow-up to the smash hit Borat.

Casting off the ill-fitting suit and moustache of his fictitious reporter, Cohen dresses to distress in figure-hugging hot pants and crop-tops as the eponymous fashionista from Klagenfurt, Austria.

Bruno follows a similar template to its predecessor, but whereas the central protagonist of Borat was a lovable innocent abroad, Bruno is a crass, insolent media whore who needs to be taken down a peg or five.

Disappointingly, only once in the film does he get his comeuppance when he visits a swingers' party and a pneumatic blonde whips him with a belt. As leather cracks against pasty flesh and a glint of genuine terror flashes in Cohen's eyes, we whoop with joy.

Bruno is a flamboyant gay stereotype writ loud and crude, and we frequently feel grubby watching the character's antics. In fact the only concession to good taste is the decision to cut a scene involving LaToya Jackson and an attempt to steal her mobile phone to get brother Michael's number in light of the self-styled King of Pop's recent death.

Occasionally Cohen hits his mark. Bruno's guest spot on Today With Richard Bay, a confessional in the style of Jeremy Kyle, warrants a few chuckles, as does a ham-fisted attempt to bring peace to the Middle East.

The crowning glory is the audition for a children's fashion shoot. "Is your baby fine with lit phosphorous?" he asks one parent before confirming with another that her daughter would be prepared to undergo liposuction.

Tear-jerking tale of family loyalty

MY SISTER'S KEEPER
certificate 12A 1h49m

ADAPTED from Jodi Picoult's heartbreaking bestseller, My Sister's Keeper is an emotionally wrought and morally complex story of one family's extraordinary fight to save their own flesh and blood from terrible suffering. Brian Fitzgerald (Jason Patric) and his wife Sara (Cameron Diaz) are blissfully happy with their son Jesse (Evan Ellingson) and two-year-old daughter Kate.

But their lives change forever when they discover Kate has leukaemia and they take a controversial decision to conceive another child, a genetic match, in order to save Kate's life.

Sara gives up her job as a high-powered attorney to preside over the family and she watches in awe as youngest child Anna (Abigail Breslin) forms a close bond with Kate (Sofia Vassilieva). Visits to hospital for various medical procedures become a normal part of the girls' childhood until Anna reaches the age of 11 and announces that she no longer wants to be a guinea pig.

So she hires lawyer Campbell Alexander (Alec Baldwin) to plead her case before Judge De Salvo (Joan Cusack) and potentially tear the entire family apart.

City slicker

WE'VE come to expect certain things from Ford and the Ka TDCi lives up to expectations without exceeding them in the way that the original car managed to.

Polished driving dynamics, great interior quality and reasonable practicality for a city car all place the Ka at the top of its class. The diesel engine is also impressive with decent pulling power and excellent economy but the cost means most buyers will choose petrol.

The big question is whether the Ka delivers the style and desirability that city car buyers crave. It has a diesel engine these days but with the burning of heavy oil a notoriously hard practice to justify in small cars, should the buying public care?

Diesel engines cost more than the petrol equivalents but buyers can recoup their extra outlay through a diesel's better fuel economy and lower emissions. The problem that diesel city cars face is that such small vehicles usually only cover small annual mileages meaning that making your money back in cost savings can be the work of a good few years.

There are tough tasks and then there's the one that faced the MK2 Ford Ka. Ford's city car offering was always going to be judged in comparison to its rival urban runabouts but the Ka also had a phenomenally successful predecessor to live up to. The real challenge was not even to eclipse the original Ka as it stood in its dotage. To be deemed a success, today's model needed to emulate the impact the first Ka had when it exploded on to the scene back in 1996 and embarked on its 12-year dynasty.

The Ka's diesel engine is a 1.3-litre common-rail unit that's been purloined from Fiat along with the Ka's chassis. The same underpinnings can be found in the Fiat 500 and Panda models, while the engine pops up repeatedly in Fiat products as well as in a number of cars from Ford's arch rival, Vauxhall.

It's an impressive unit with a power output of 74bhp and a very linear power delivery that irons out any trace of turbo lag. It's perfectly possible to see how the diesel option could be preferred over the Ka's 1.2-litre petrol alternative – it's got extra muscle in the shape of 145Nm of torque that's produced from 1,500rpm which makes for a relaxed drive with decent in-gear acceleration. The petrol offers sharper responses to throttle inputs, however, and is more in tune with the nippy, vital feel that many buyers expect from a citycar.

Out on the road the Ka forces you to remind yourself that it's a city car. It feels altogether more grown-up than most of the alternatives in this sector and the diesel engine only adds to that impression.

The chassis and suspension may be borrowed from Fiat but Ford undertook a programme of revisions designed to instil the sharp handling that the Blue Oval has come to stand for. Most significant amongst the changes is the introduction of a rear anti-roll bar that braces the chassis and improves stability when cornering. The Ka certainly tackles twisty roads with genuine composure and there's enough grip to confirm that it could handle a far more powerful engine than either of the units currently on offer.

By city car standards, ride quality is first rate and so is refinement, although wind noise is noticeable at higher speeds.

Along with the rest of the modern Ford range, it employs the Kinetic design themes including the trademark swept back headlamps and the trapezoidal front air intake. There are elements carried over from the MK1 Ka around the rear end but from most angles, the effect is of a stunted Fiesta – pretty but nothing new or groundbreaking.

The materials and switchgear are those of a far more expensive product. Ford has worked hard to create a funky cabin environment and while some elements such as the centre console layout are questionable, most of it has the desired effect.

There's an airy feel inside with an abundance of headroom for front seat occupants and space for a couple of six footers to occupy the rear without doing themselves a mischief. The array of storage options has been very well thought out and the boot is of a useful size for a city car but 224 litres won't go that far after a major supermarket splurge. Fold the rear seats and 747 litres is opened up.

The Ka is available in four trim levels but the diesel engine can only be specified in conjunction with range-topping Zetec trim. All Ka models have an MP3 compatible CD stereo with an AUX input, electric power steering with a wheel that's adjustable for height, ABS brakes and twin front airbags. The Zetec adds a raft of other items including 15-inch alloy wheels, front fog lights, remote central locking, a trip computer, air-conditioning and a heated windscreen.

The diesel engine's emissions and fuel economy are certainly impressive, the engine obviously tuned to be thrifty rather than thrilling. The Ka TDCi can return 67.3mpg on the combined cycle and it emits just 112g/km of CO₂. It costs £700 more than the 55mpg petrol but buyers who cover big mileages might be persuaded that the sums add up. The residual values should be buoyant too.

The original Ka has rightly been hailed as a design classic and scooped up all manner of awards to that effect. Times have changed and recreating the first Ka's avant-garde cuteness and verve for the modern market was a difficult and risky proposition. Instead, Ford has created another supremely competent product that betters its city car rivals for quality, driving dynamics and all-round sophistication.

Does it have the uniqueness, the attitude or the desirability of a classic city car? Possibly not but that shouldn't stop it from being objectively the best. As for this diesel-engined model, it's good but only worthy of consideration by high mileage drivers.

Bowen shines for Rockets

LUKE Bowen once again showed his class when Rye House Rockets beat defending Premier League champions
Edinburgh 56-36.

The speedway rider from Harlow opened with four straight wins and only came unstuck with a surprise last place in his final race at Hoddesdon on Saturday.

His most dramatic success came in a sensational Heat 3 that initially looked likely to produce a Monarchs 5-1.

All that changed when Bowen delivered a stunning drive through the narrowest of gaps from Michal Makovsky and Andrew Tully.

Although Rockets went down 48-42 to Newport
in the premier league,
Bowen produced another fantastic display, notably outpacing Wasps' number one Leigh Lantham in convincing fashion to win Heat 1, and going on to earn nine points.

Bowen has been named in a four-man Rockets team for the Premier League Fours
Championship on Saturday July 25.

Sawbo win

SAWBO (250-6) reached the Herts County Cup quarter-final with a 104-run win over a Totteridge (146) team which contained former Ashes test player Peter Such.

JOY: Church Langley Primary School's successful Year 3, 4, 5 and 6 pupils with deputy headteacher David Stacey after the team won a district sports day

Church Langley in primary triumph

THE athletic ability of Church
Langley Primary School children was again shown as they won a district sports event for the seventh consecutive time.

Children from Years 3 to 6 (ages 7 to 11) competed in a two-day track and field event held at Mark Hall Sportcentre.

Church Langley beat several local schools, including neighbours Henry Moore, Little Parndon, Abbotswood and Katherines.

David Stacey, deputy headteacher at Church Langley, said: "It was a really great team effort. The children had been training early in the morning before school and at lunchtimes.

"They showed real determination to win and succeed. I'm very proud of all the children's achievements.

"It was another great win for Church Langley."

Matchwinner defies injury

RAMYA Upadhyay defied injury to play an unbeaten match-winning innings for Harlow Town against Theydon Bois.

Despite suffering from a leg injury which required him to use a runner throughout most of the innings, he made 81 not out as Harlow Town successfully passed the visitors' score of 176.

Town's victory on Saturday made it 10 wins out of 10 and saw Theydon slip to third spot.

Vic Goddard's side are now 57 points ahead of

Theydon Bois 176,
Harlow Tn 177-4,
Harlow Tn won by 6 wickets Herts & Essex Lge, div two second-placed Dunmow II and hot favourites for promotion.

Earlier, Theydon had been put in to bat and made a solid start.

However, a brilliant piece of fielding for a run out from Ashley Alderson gave Town a much-needed breakthrough.

Alderson claimed two wickets himself soon after, including the important wicket of Theydon skipper Rob
Bullivant for just 4.

The Town bowling
attack kept the remaining

Theydon batsmen in check as they laboured to 176 all out with Alderson taking 4-30 and Shane Hooper claiming 3-41.

Town made a reasonable start in their reply but then lost both openers with 40 runs on the board.

Pat Yates was dismissed lbw with the score on 70 and the game
looked in the balance.

But a fourth-wicket partnership of 52 between Upadhyay and Alderson
(22) took the game away from Theydon. Upadhyay finished the game in style alongside skipper
Goddard (19 not out).
Div three result: Potter Street
(183-9) bt Chesterfords (116) by 67 runs).

Harlow suffer big defeat

Harlow batted first and their opening pair of Lee Jesse and Waqas Akhtar put on 38 before Jesse went for 27 and Akhtar then fell for 15.

Chowdhury and Nick Butler took the score the score to 84 in the face of tight bowling before the latter was bowled not offering a stroke.

Shortly
after,
Chowdhury was stumped for 26 and Harlow's innings drifted.

Only Luke
Heskett (22) proved more than nuisance value to a decent looking Shenfield
spin attack.

In reply, the mercurial Shenfield opener
Arshad Ali made 42 before Iain Nuttall caught him off Heskett.

Walton, the other Shenfield opener, was caught at silly mid off, but this only proved to be a false dawn.

Aussie Elliott Richter compiled a tidy 54 not out and J. Sarwar benefited from being dropped to finish unbeaten on 48 and give the home side a comfortable win.

In division one of the 2nd XI league, Harlow (177; Ryan Jesse 45) lost to Ardleigh Green (181-3; Ryan Jesse 2-47) by seven wickets.

Harlow thirds (146-6) beat Chingford thirds (142) by four wickets.

King Karl's a record-breaker

Harlow Tn II 388-4,
Stansted Hall II 173

Harlow Tn won by 215 runs

Herts & Essex League, division four

KARL Secharan's batting prowess saw him re-write the record books as he notched the highest ever score by a Harlow Town Cricket Club player in 45-over league cricket.

The 43-year-old smashed 163 when division four leaders Harlow Town seconds
thrashed hosts
Stansted Hall seconds by 215
runs on Saturday.

His titanic knock included 18 fours
and nine sixes.

Scott Alderson, Harlow Town
seconds skipper, said: "He did really well and played some very good shots. He took advantage of the small boundaries well.

"It was his highest innings for the club."

Darryl Pettengal (80) and Charlie Coleman
(66) also filled their boots as Harlow Town made a massive 388-4 from their 45 overs before the visitors were bowled out for 173.

In division seven, Harlow Town thirds (61-3) made it 10 wins from 10, winning comfortably by seven wickets after bowling out Langley seconds for just 60.
Jack Davies claimed four wickets for Harlow.

Winning machine comes to stadium

Welcome to Inside Track, our column that gives you the reader an insight into Harlow Greyhound Stadium as our top tipster reveals his favourites for tomorrow (Friday July 10).

PUNTERS attending Harlow Stadium this Friday night will be in for a treat as leading open race performer VIGOROUS ZICO makes a rare graded appearance.

His statistics for 2009 are incredible, winning 16 of 20 races and it would take a brave man to oppose him in this mood.

CONNOR PASS JO took off when winning last week and should at least make the 9.45pm contest competitive.

Supporters of the Mark Wallis-trained

DROOPYS ELBOW will have probably lost patience with this young greyhound as he has thrown away plenty of winning opportunities.

However, there has been an excuse each time and readers are advised not to give up hope yet. He is potentially very smart and can gain his first success at 10.15pm

Friday July 10 selections:

7.30pm Vihar Blue; 7.45pm Ishi A Diva; 8pm Swift Lorna; 8.15pm Lulus Miracle; 8.30pm Nowthatgood; 8.45pm Funcheon Ash; 9pm Cool Linda; 9.15pm Molly Alice; 9.30pm Dainty Benny; 9.45pm Vigorous Zico; 10pm Tinker; 10.15pm Droopys Elbow.

Youngsters beat personal bests

Athletics

A NUMBER of victories and personal bests were recorded by Harlow-based athletes at an open meeting in Watford.

Kingsmoor Primary School pupil Reece Parker showed his promise by winning the hammer with a throw of 22.08m. He was competing in the U-13 event against a youngster nearly two years older than him.

Tyler Bown (Mark Hall) won the U-15 200m. The 14-year-old clocked 25.22s, dramatically reducing his previous personal best (PB).

Victory was also achieved by 15-year-old Stewards School student Sam Bengé.

Dan Yaxley (Mark Hall) was up against senior male athletes but still clinched second in the 800m. He reduced his PB from 2mins 5.5s to 2:02.8.

Thirteen-year-old Joanne Cywinski (Passmores) was third in the 800m. She clocked a PB of 2:27.4.

Ryan Dunne (Mark Hall) was third in the 800m with a PB of 2:21.7.

Fifteen-year-old Lauren Freeman recorded a PB of 2:47.4 in the 800m.

Sixteen-year-old Amy Larkin (Mark Hall) registered a PB best in the hammer (28.95m).

Top Gear is bright note in team's loss

DAVID Gear provided the only positive note for Harlow Squash Club's first team when they lost 2-1 at Potters Bar in Herts League division three. Gear, Harlow's second string, levelled the match with a very convincing 15-4, 15-5, 15-6 win.

This came after first string Ian Gould lost 7-15, 12-15, 5-15 against a determined opponent and could only offer scant resistance.

In the deciding clash, Andy Davis narrowly lost the first set 13-15 and went down in the next two (4-15, 11-15) as the hosts clinched victory. Harlow's second team lost 2-1 at home to Herts Fire SC in Herts League division four.

First string Vinh Tram got off to a slow start losing the first two sets 3-15, 9-15. He won the next 15-12 but lost the fourth 8-15.

Second string Peter Iszatt lost 15-13, 11-15, 9-15, 11-15 in four sets.

Richard Lewis won 15-3, 15-6, 15-11.

Champs show plenty of Eastern promise

HARLOW athletes returned with medals from the Eastern Counties Championships in Cambridge at the weekend.

Harlow Athletic Club's Marleen Avontuur took silver in the U-13 girls 800m. She clocked a personal best (PB) time of 2 mins 31.75 secs with a fine tactical race.

The Passmores School student was only a stride off a gold medal.

Club-mate

Lawrence

Fanutza-Davis gained bronze medals in both the triple jump and long jump. He leapt 9.77m in the triple jump and 4.42m in the long jump.

Sixteen-year-old Tom Larkin (Mark Hall) struck gold in the 200m (U-17 boys). He registered 23.7s – only an hour after returning 51.7s for 4th in the 400m.

Harlow-based Amelia Barrett was 7th in the U-13 girls 800m. She clocked a PB of 2:43.5.

Daniel Yaxley, 16, claimed second in the U-17 boys javelin with a PB of 39.25m.

Earlier, Dan gained bronze in the 800m in 2:05.1.

Lewis Chalk (12) ran a fine race to claim bronze in the U-13 boys 800m in 2:35.04.

Mark Hall School student Amy Larkin, 16, threw the hammer 28.49m to place 4th in the U-17 girls event.

● HARLOW'S Markus Hunt

and Billy Falconer will race at the All England Schools Championships at Sheffield tomorrow (Friday).

Markus runs in the senior boys 400m for Herts as he is studying A-levels at The Bishop's Stortford High School.

Billy is competing for Essex in the inter boys High Jump final.

Markus's race will be televised for Sky Sports.

West is best for Harlow athletes

THERE was plenty of success for Harlow-based athletes at the West Essex Schools Championships held at the impressive Mark Hall Sportcentre track and field complex.

Passmores School and Harlow Athletic Club member Eleanor Moss won the U-13 girls javelin with a throw of 14.56 metres last Friday.

Isobel Moss (Passmores School and Harlow Athletic Club) came second in the U-15 girls 1,500m.

Fifteen-year-olds Sophie Fuhr (Burnt Mill School) and Ebony Clark (Stewards School) shone as they ran blistering times in winning their events easily.

Sophie, under the guidance of her coach and former Olympic runner Gladys Bird, ran a personal best (PB) of 42 seconds for the inter girls 300m.

Ebony stormed home in 12.68s in the inter girls 100m.

Harlow-based Essex coaching secretary John Stow said: "These two, I am sure, will be looking to represent their county in a years time as they are only first year under 17s. They are both very talented sprinters."

Ten other Harlow-based athletes also returned with medals.

Lewis Chalk (12), from Mark Hall School, won the Year 7 800m in 2:39.

St Mark's School pupil Brian Kinuthia (12) was first in the Year 7 high jump. He recorded a leap of 1.40m.

Thirteen-year-old Joanne Cywinski (Passmores) clinched the Year 8 800m in 2:34.

Lauren Freeman (15), from Passmores School, secured gold in the inter girls 1,500m (5:55).

St Mark's School pupil Jordan Harvey (14) had never competed in the high jump

before but still won with a brilliant leap of 1.63m.

Billy Falconer sealed the inter boys high jump title with a leap of 1.90m.

Billy attempted 2m and again cleared it with his body – only for his right foot to clip the bar.

Other winners were: Alex Staniland (15), of Passmores, in the inter girls 200m, 29.5s; Ryan Dunne (14), of Mark Hall, in the Year 9 1,500m, 4:49; Sam Bengé (15) in the inter boys 1,500m, 4:51; Dan Presland (13), of Passmores, Year 8 1,500m, 5:20.

Churchgate's athletics win

PUPILS from Churchgate Street Primary School were able to celebrate after winning the Cluster of Schools Field and Track event for the second consecutive year.

They were one of six schools who competed initially at Mark Hall school for field events, and subsequently at Sheering School, for the track events.

The winners were presented with the Barry Hale Trophy.

The event used to be called the District Sports Day but due to the number of schools competing from in and around Harlow, the event has been divided in to small clusters of schools who compete in this annual event.

SHIELD SUCCESS: Churchgate Primary School pupils with their spoils (s)

Duo are top 2 vet runners

HIGH finishes were accrued by Harlow Running Club members in the Sweatshop Midweek Road Race League.

The league has ended and Roy Steven and John Tennant were respectively 1st and 2nd vet 50 runners.

Harlow suffer big defeat

JAMES Butler lambasted his Harlow side after they slipped to a heavy defeat at second-placed Shenfield.

Harlow's skipper acknowledged his team missed the all-round talents of Jason McNally (injured thumb) and Abhishek Jhunjunwala (training commitments with Indian Cricket League club Rajasthan Royals) but said his team need to up their performance. He said: "It was a pretty toothless and unimpressive performance. Too many of us wait for someone else to win the game when things get tough and it shouldn't be that way.

"I hope that Harold Wood bear the brunt of our resurgence [this Saturday]," Butler was encouraged by the debut of Maruf Chowdhury, who has played for Middlesex IIs and England U-17s. He scored 26 and although he was expensive with the ball, Butler feels he offers something as a bowler.

He said: "Maruf has joined us after moving back to the area from Leicester and he has the ability to make batsmen hop around a bit from what I saw. We also welcome Abhishek back." Cont'd on page 47

All change for Hawks

By DAVID RIMMER
david.rimmer@hertssexnews.co.uk

GLEN Alzapiedi is backing the Ware presence to play a big part in Harlow Town's bid to win the Ryman League division one north title.

Up to eight former Ware players could be Hawks first team regulars that start the 2009-10 campaign under Alzapiedi, former boss of the East Herts club.

Central defender Laurie Stewart, striker John Frendo and left-back Michael Bardle all joined Alzapiedi when he took over from Ryan Kirby as Harlow boss in December.

Alzapiedi has also been boosted by the arrival of several other ex-Ware players.

Left-sided midfielder Joe Stevens and defender Dave Blower have joined goalkeeper Richard Hayward and midfielder Kai Ramshaw at Barrows Farm.

Alzapiedi said: "If circumstances had been different I believe Ware would have won the league [Ryman division one north] last season. They have the potential to go for it again."

The future of another Ware player, striker Chris Ellerbeck, is uncertain at Harlow.

Ellerbeck was one of five players expected to be at Harlow next season who played in the first round of the FA Cup for Ware against Blue Square Premier side Kidderminster Harriers in November 2007.

The others are Ramshaw, Frendo, Blower and full-back Bardle.

Alzapiedi is pleased with his new signings which also include winger Tyler Campbell, who has switched on a season's loan deal from Blue Square Premier club Histon.

The Harlow boss also feels the squad has plenty of goalscoring potential. "We also have in John Frendo a player who can score 25 goals a season and Ricci Crace can do that while Kai Ramshaw can also score more than 10 from midfield," said Alzapiedi.

"Joe Stevens can play on the left side of midfield or up front. He can take set-pieces and score upwards of 10 goals a season.

"One of the things I feel the squad lacked last season was a lack of pace and he [Stevens] and Tyler can provide that. Tyler can play wide on either side."

The capture of Hayward from Waltham Abbey to replace James Hasell in goal, is also a key move. "Richard Hayward is very vocal and very reliable as a goalkeeper. He wanted to play local football as he has a young family," said the Harlow boss.

"Dave Blower is a good overlapping full-back in attack and also has good defensive attributes."

However, Alzapiedi has not solely relied on the ex-Ware link as midfielder Christian Wheeler has been signed from Aveley for his ball-winning qualities while midfielder Tim Lees (ex Finchley & Wingate) is another acquisition.

"I have seen Tim play and he is a very good touch player and a good passer. He is desperate to play for Harlow and for me," said Alzapiedi.

And the signings have not stopped there. "I am still looking for another defender and central defender," the Hawks chief added.

Luke Dodds, who played in the Capital League for Harlow last season, is set to be the number two keeper while Tom Bruno's future at Harlow is uncertain. The young midfielder had a trial at Coca-Cola League

One club Brentford last week and heads off for another trial at Brighton next week.

Paul Tyler, who has worked at Grays Athletic, is the new goal-keeping coach. He replaces the departed Steve Walduck.
